INQUIRY INTO HYPONATRAEMIA-RELATED DEATHS

Thursday, 23rd June 2005

2 (1.30 pm)

3 MR O'HARA: Ladies and gentlemen, can I ask everyone to take 4 their seats so we can start this afternoon's hearing?

5 Thank you for coming along this afternoon. The purpose 6 of this hearing, which was not originally scheduled when 7 we last met in February, is to update everyone on what 8 progress the Inquiry has made and to give a clear idea
9 of what the schedule will be for hearings from October 10 onwards.

11 Before I start I would like to welcome and introduce 12 to you the panel of experts who the Inquiry has 13 appointed. They have been here since yesterday. You 14 will have seen their names on the website, but to 15 formally introduce them to you, on my left is Dr Peter
16 Booker, paediatric anaesthetist at the Royal Liverpool
17 Children's Hospital, who has been a consultant since 18 1982. He is also a senior lecturer in paediatric
19 anaesthesia at the University of Liverpool since 1992
20 and an Honorary Research Fellow in the Department of 21 Child Health from 1998 to 2005.

22 On my right is Dr Harvey Marcovitch, who was 23 a consultant paediatrician in the National Health 24 Service from 1977 until 2001, and an Honorary Senior 25 Clinical Lecturer at the University of Oxford. From

1 1994 to 2002 he was the editor of the leading paediatric
2 scientific journal "Archives of Disease in Childhood".
3 He is now an associate editor of the BMJ and he sits on 4 and chairs Fitness to Practise Panels of the General 5 Medical Council. He is also an expert witness on 6 a regular basis in medical negligence cases, usually 7 overwhelmingly retained by plaintiffs or claimants, but 8 also occasionally acting for defendants.

9 Again to my left is Carol Williams, who is the 10 Inquiry's nursing adviser. She is a consultant nurse in 11 Paediatric Intensive Care in Guy's and St Thomas'
12 Hospitals in London. She has previously been an expert
13 witness in the inquiries into Brompton and Harefield 14 Hospitals and the Bristol Royal Infirmary. Carol is the 15 Chair of the Royal College of Nursing and Paediatric and 16 Neonatal Intensive Care Forum, in which capacity she has 17 given evidence to the House of Commons Select Committee 18 on Child Health. She has also been involved in 19 developing the national service framework for paediatric 20 intensive care nursing.

21 Sitting to my right again, Mary Whitty is the 22 Inquiry's adviser on health service management and 23 systems. She retired from full-time work in the 24 National Health Service in 2002, having been involved in 25 health service management since 1973. Until 2002 she

1 was the Chief Executive of Brent and Harrow Health
2 Authority in London. From 2002 to 2004 she was a member
3 of the Department of Health Inquiry into the conduct of 4 Dr Clifford Ayling and since 2002 she has also worked on 5 a part-time basis for the Health Protection Agency.

6 As you are aware from documents which have been 7 placed on the website, the experts were chosen by the 8 Inquiry on the basis of their established expertise in 9 their own field, their independence of the various 10 interested parties and their willingness and ability to 11 commit the time which will be required for this Inquiry.
12 They will be here for as much as possible of the 13 evidence, but inevitably there will be parts of the 14 evidence which will be less directly relevant to each of 15 their areas of expertise and they will not necessarily 16 be there for those parts. There will also be occasions 17 when they have unavoidable commitments elsewhere, but in 18 the event that they miss any of the days' hearings they 19 will be able to follow what happened on the Internet.

20 One of the roles of the experts will be to prepare 21 a preliminary paper identifying the areas which cause 22 them concern. This will then be sent to a number of 23 peer reviewers who have been engaged by the Inquiry, who 24 work abroad, and the peer reviewers will be asked for 25 their comments on this preliminary paper. The final

1 paper, put together between the experts and the peer 2 reviewers, will then be made available publicly well in 3 advance of the oral hearings on 3rd September* and 4 hopefully in or about mid-August of this year. After 5 the oral hearings are complete the experts will give me 6 their final report on the areas which the Inquiry has 7 taken evidence on. This report will be peer reviewed 8 and will be used as a major contribution to the final 9 drafting of the ultimate Inquiry report.

10 The idea of peer reviewers was raised at an early 11 stage by a number of representatives. The Inquiry has 12 taken up that suggestion, and I can confirm that we now 13 have committed in principle to be peer reviewers 14 Dr Arieff in California and Dr Bohn in Canada, who 15 between them will cover the areas of paediatrics and 16 anaesthesia.

17 We are in the process of engaging a nursing adviser 18 and expect to have developments from Australia within 19 the next week or so on that front. We would also engage 20 a peer reviewer on the area of health service management 21 if we decide that that is also required.

22 The peer review system has two particular advantages 23 it seems to us. The first is that it provides the 24 Inquiry and the public of Northern Ireland with 25 reassurance that the Inquiry is receiving high quality,

1 independent advice from our own panel of four experts.
2 The second advantage is that we hope that the peer 3 reviewers will be able to help us to learn how things 4 are done differently or better outside the United 5 Kingdom so that when we come to make recommendations to 6 the Minister, we will be able to incorporate in those 7 recommendations any lessons which might usefully be 8 gleaned from abroad.

9 I should not move on from the issue of the 10 appointment of our experts without specifically
11 referring to the fact that there were objections
12 received to the appointment of Dr Harvey Marcovitch
13 largely based on an article that he wrote six years ago 14 in the British Medical Journal. That article, as those 15 of you who have read it will see, was written in strong 16 terms, but it also clearly relates to a particular 17 campaign or issue, and Dr Marcovitch was at pains in the 18 article to emphasise that he distinguished that 19 particular campaign from the vast majority of genuine 20 concerns which members of the public have about medical 21 treatment. In these circumstances, and especially now,
22 given the role of peer reviewers, I intend to continue
23 to use Dr Marcovitch as an expert adviser for this 24 Inquiry.

25 There is I should acknowledge one specific

1 outstanding issue on experts, which is the suggestion
2 made on behalf of Mr and Mrs Slavin that it would be 3 appropriate for the Inquiry to engage a renal consultant
4 to advise on some of the issues relating to Adam's 5 treatment. Dr Peter Booker, who is our adviser on 6 paediatric anaesthesia, has only just recently become 7 involved in the Inquiry. I will discuss that in detail 8 with Peter Booker and we will come back to Mr and 9 Mrs Slavin and their legal representatives and try to 10 tease out with them what specifically the role of the 11 renal consultant might be and how that would add to the 12 work which will be done by Dr Booker and others.

13 One other suggestion which has been made to us is 14 that it might be helpful both to the experts and to the 15 interested parties if a meeting with the experts could 16 be facilitated before the Inquiry starts. After 17 discussions this morning we are able to propose 18 a meeting along those lines and our suggested date, 19 subject to the availability of various people, is that 20 those meetings can take place on Thursday, 25th August.

21 Now what I should emphasise about such a meeting is 22 that its purpose will not be to preview the evidence
23 which is likely to be given at the oral hearings, and it 24 will simply not be possible for the experts to start
25 giving expert advice to the various people -- to anybody

1 who comes to those meetings, but in particular in so far 2 as the families may have additional concerns which they 3 feel are not fully or adequately reflected in the paper 4 which will then be available from the experts and from 5 the peer reviewers, they will be able to raise that at 6 the meeting. They will also be able to meet the experts 7 in perhaps a slightly less formal setting than we are 8 going to have when this Inquiry starts.

9 Since the families are being offered a meeting along 10 those lines on 25th August, an equivalent invitation 11 will be issued to the representatives of the Trusts and 12 the Department, if they wish to take up on that. That 13 is a matter for them. That issue can be discussed 14 further.

15 Let me turn now to the accommodation which we have 16 in this building. Although it seems very easy from the 17 outset to say, "We will have the Inquiry in ..."
18 a certain location, it has taken some considerable time
19 to identify and pin down this fine hall as the place
20 where the Inquiry's oral hearings could be conducted.

21 I should say at the start that the hall is not set 22 out today in exactly the way it will be in October, but 23 today's appearance is broadly similar. One of the 24 differences is these trestle tables are not the tables
25 which we will be using in October from October onwards,

1 and there will be smaller desks than those. People who 2 feel perhaps fairly far away from us will be moved in 3 closer.

4 The set-up, however, will be broadly the same. The 5 Solicitor and Counsel to the Inquiry will sit in the 6 middle. The families' representatives will be on one 7 side and the representatives of the public bodies will 8 be on the other side.

9 There has been a plan or a map of the proposed 10 layout circulated. We welcome comments on that, and 11 that can be revised or tweaked in any way which appears 12 necessary.

13 The legal representatives will have laptops, which 14 will be provided by the Inquiry. There will also be 15 screens on their desks which will show any particular 16 document which is being referred to at any one point in 17 the evidence. There will be screens elsewhere in the 18 hall so that the proceedings can be followed in full by 19 the members of the public, by the families and by other 20 potential witnesses, and these two large screens to my 21 left and right, they have been tested this morning and 22 they can accommodate the documents which will be put up
23 on those screens. So it should be possible for everyone 24 who is present here to follow the proceedings in some 25 detail.

1       If it is necessary, there will also be screens on 2 the balcony above so that if there is an overflow from 3 the hall into the balcony, the proceedings can be 4 followed from there too.

5       For the information of anyone who requires this,
6 there will be a training day at a date to be arranged in 7 September, probably mid-September, at which everyone 8 will be given a guide as to how the laptops and the 9 screens can be used.

10       Apart from the facilities within this hall, there 11 are some rather limited rooms outside the hall, which 12 can be used for consultations between the various legal 13 representatives and the families and the Trusts and 14 Department and their witnesses. We are not sure if we 15 have enough rooms available for everybody and that is 16 something we will have to discuss with the various 17 representatives in the weeks ahead. If there is not 18 room for everybody and more room is required, we will 19 seek accommodation somewhere very close by.

20       Let me turn now to the progress which has been made 21 in terms of evidence-gathering by the Inquiry. We have 22 received thousands of documents from many sources, 23 primarily the Department itself and the Trusts which are 24 centrally involved in the issues which give rise to this 25 Inquiry. Many of these documents can already be found

1 on the website. In particular, documents relating to 2 Adam's and Raychel's deaths are there along with many 3 more documents about the response and the reactions of 4 the Department and other bodies.

5 Legal professional privilege has been claimed for 6 some documentation. That is an entitlement which 7 parties have under Schedule 8 of the 1972 Health and 8 Personal Social Services Order, which specifically 9 restricts the right which everyone has to see documents 10 to -- the paragraph states that:

11 "Nothing in Schedule 8 empowers [me] to require any 12 person to produce any document or to answer any question 13 which that person would be entitled on the ground of 14 privilege or otherwise to refuse to produce or to answer
15 if the Inquiry were proceeding in a court of law."

16 I am not sure of the extent to which there are 17 tensions about that, and it may be an issue which needs 18 to be addressed at some point in the near future.

19 Apart from documents for which privilege has been 20 claimed, which means that they do not have to be 21 produced at all, there are other documents which we have 22 been provided with but which we have decided either to 23 redact in part or to omit entirely for various reasons.
24 Those reasons might be that the documents are not 25 actually terribly relevant or relevant at all to the

1 work of the Inquiry. Another reason might be that they 2 interfere with patient confidentiality. You will 3 understand that in the events that have happened there 4 are some references to other patients, and it would be 5 entirely unfair for documents relating to other patients 6 not involved in the Inquiry to be made public. This is 7 an entirely normal process. It happens in all 8 Inquiries, but to the extent that some concerns have 9 been expressed about that, the Inquiry has responded to 10 those concerns and will continue to respond to them.

11 By way of example, we have shown to one of the 12 families some of the documents which we redacted or 13 which we decided were not relevant in order to reassure 14 them about the type of document which they were not 15 being shown.

16 The next development has been that we have published
17 and circulated a list of key issues which the Inquiry 18 will be focusing on as its work continues. They are 19 contained in a nine-page document which was circulated 20 in the recent past. We have already had some responses 21 to that with some suggestions about how it could be 22 added to or improved. I think we have responded to 23 those suggestions, sometimes on the basis that the very 24 specific issues which are raised are already encompassed 25 in the document as it stands and sometimes by suggesting

1 that it is unnecessary to make the changes which are 2 proposed.

3 The next fundamental piece of evidence-gathering is 4 by way of witness statements. You will know that we 5 have identified a long list of people from whom we have 6 sought witness statements on general and specific issues
7 relating to Adam's death, Raychel's death and the role
8 of the Department and various public bodies. Replies
9 have started to come in. I do not intend to make 10 a major issue about this today, but I emphasise the fact 11 that I expect the replies to come in much more quickly 12 in the next ten days or so, and I will not accept that 13 replies can be delayed until well into the summer
14 holidays. It is important to remember that this Inquiry 15 is working to certain deadlines and it is essential, if 16 those guidelines are to be met, that the replies are 17 received during next week and the week after.

18 One of the reasons why that is important is that 19 when we receive these replies, we have to scrutinise
20 them. We have to compare replies with written evidence 21 and statements from other people. We may then have to 22 seek follow-up or clarifying statements from the 23 witnesses who have given us their information. We will 24 then have to consider the paper which we will get from 25 our own experts and from the peer reviewers and then

1 decide, taking all of that together, who we require to 2 give oral evidence.

3 Let me emphasise this. If doctors or nurses or 4 health service administrators do not give us their 5 witness statements in good time, they cannot later 6 complain about getting short notice that they are 7 required to give evidence when the Inquiry starts its 8 oral hearings in October.

9 I have now to mention in particular the position in 10 relation to Lucy Crawford's death. You will be aware 11 from correspondence that we have published that the 12 police investigation file was forwarded to the Public
13 Prosecution Service on 23rd May. That is rather later 14 than we had hoped, though in saying that I am not in any 15 way criticising the police, because it appears to us 16 from what little we know about what has happened that 17 there has been some efforts to contact at least one 18 particular witness which have so far been somewhat 19 unsuccessful.

20 The next stage is that a decision will have to be 21 taken by the Public Prosecution Service about whether 22 there will be any prosecutions of any people involved in 23 Lucy's treatment. We have been informed by the Public 24 Prosecution Service that it is difficult to know when 25 those decisions will be taken, because they have to go

1 through a number of steps before forming their final 2 view. We do understand, however, that if there is to be 3 a prosecution, it is unlikely that the trial will start 4 before the end of this year.

5 The Inquiry has had to consider how this will affect 6 our work overall. In an ideal scenario we would 7 consider the three deaths which we are specifically 8 investigating in chronological order. That means we 9 would start with Adam's death, we would move to Lucy's 10 death and then we would go on to Raychel's death. We 11 would then follow up on those specific inquiries by 12 looking at any other deaths which might fall to be 13 investigated and we would also look at a number of 14 specific issues.

15 For instance, we will certainly be examining the 16 role and responsibilities of various public bodies. We 17 will be examining the responses of the public bodies.
18 We will be looking at the introduction of the guidelines 19 after Raychel's death and the way in which those 20 guidelines have been implemented and steps which have 21 been taken to ensure that they are effective. We will 22 also be looking at the education and training and at the 23 continuing education and training of nurses and doctors.

24 It seems, however, that because of the delay which 25 has been brought about by the criminal investigation

1 into Lucy's death we will not be able to follow that 2 ideal route. For the moment at least, subject to 3 anything that is presented to us today, we intend to 4 defer our investigation of Lucy's death. I have to 5 acknowledge immediately that this is particularly 6 disappointing for the Crawford family. This is not the 7 news they wanted to hear. I also acknowledge at the 8 same time it will be disappointing for a number of other 9 people who were involved in the events at that time and 10 who we anticipate will undoubtedly have things which 11 they want to say to this Inquiry. It seems to us, 12 however, that it is an unavoidable problem.

13 If a decision is taken that there is to be no 14 prosecution in Lucy's case, we will examine the 15 circumstances of her death as soon as possible and we 16 will fit it into the timetable which I am about to 17 outline in respect of the Inquiry's other work so that, 18 although the investigation is delayed, it will not be 19 put off indefinitely. If, however, there is 20 a prosecution, and since we have been specifically asked 21 by the police not to take statements either from the 22 Crawford family or from people who may be involved as 23 witnesses in the prosecution, we believe that in the 24 event of a prosecution we will not be able to proceed at 25 least for the moment into inquiring into the 1 circumstances of Lucy's death.

2 The timetable which I am about to outline is the 3 timetable which will be followed at least in the first 4 place.

5 The public hearings will start on Monday, 3rd 6 October. The Inquiry will sit each week from Monday to 7 Thursday. This is partly to facilitate our expert
8 witnesses from England, who have their own jobs to go
9 back to, and we will try to release them on Thursday 10 evening so they at least have one day a week at their 11 jobs in England. In addition to that sitting four days 12 a week can be a considerable strain not only for the 13 Inquiry team but for the legal representatives and also 14 for the witnesses, the families and the public 15 representatives.

16 So what we will do is we will start by examining the 17 circumstances of Adam's death on Monday, 3rd October.
18 We will sit from Monday to Thursday that week and from 19 Monday 10th to Thursday, 13th October the following
20 week. It is our target to hear all the evidence we need 21 to hear about Adam's death in that two-week period.

22 On Monday, 17th October we will start our 23 investigation and taking oral evidence into Raychel's 24 death and that will continue along the pattern which 25 I just outlined in the week beginning Monday 17th and

1 Monday 24th, and again our target is to complete that on 2 Thursday, 27th October.

3 Beyond that the schedule has to be confirmed.
4 I have outlined the sort of issues that we will be 5 looking at. As I have already indicated, in the event
6 of there being no prosecution in Lucy's case we will fit 7 in the investigation of Lucy's death during probably 8 November/December. November might be a bit optimistic, 9 but hopefully December. We will also look at any other 10 deaths which may turn out to be necessary to inquire 11 into. We will conduct that business in the 12 quasi-judicial, quasi-adversarial system which this hall 13 has been set up for.

14 Towards the end of our public hearings, and in order
15 to help us consider recommendations about what future 16 practice might involve, we anticipate that we will 17 probably hold a number of seminars or open meetings to 18 facilitate discussion, and our view at this stage is 19 that if we have taken all the evidence that we can take 20 in the manner which I have just described, it might be 21 better to try to get ideas and recommendations about 22 future practice in a non-adversarial setting rather than 23 having somebody coming to give evidence and be 24 cross-examined and so on.

25 We have the hall available to us until Thursday,

1 15th December. In the event that there are sittings
2 continuing until that time Thursday, 15th December will 3 be the last day before Christmas, but I should say that 4 because the hall had already been booked for various 5 other purposes, there will be no sittings of the Inquiry
6 from Thursday, 10th November to Monday, 21st November 7 inclusive. Since we are losing Monday, 21st November 8 and on the assumption that the Inquiry is continuing to 9 sit in late November, that week the Inquiry will sit 10 from Tuesday 22nd to Friday 25th.

11 Although that timetable is provisional in some 12 respects and therefore subject to alteration, I cannot 13 currently envisage any circumstances in which we will 14 not adhere to it in terms of Adam's and Raychel's
15 deaths. Therefore everyone should now take it as read
16 that the inquiry into Adam's death will start on 3rd
17 October and the inquiry into Raychel's death will start
18 on 17th October. This means that those who are involved
19 in any way in those deaths should now take it as read 20 that if they are required to give evidence, they will be 21 required to give that evidence in either of those two 22 fortnights. I hope that on that basis those who have 23 alternative commitments -- and I acknowledge there must 24 be some doctors in particular who have alternative 25 commitments -- can organise them in such a way as to be

1 available to give the evidence which is essential to 2 this Inquiry.

3 I also confirm that we will confirm with the various 4 parties who are required to give evidence that they are 5 required to do so at least one month before the 3rd
6 October in Adam's case and 17th October in Raychel's 7 case.

8 At this stage there is nothing very much that I want 9 to add. There are a couple of specific points which 10 I want to raise with various parties, but I think at 11 this point I now invite the families to raise any issues 12 which they want to do.

13 Miss McDermott, is there -- please sit down. Today 14 I understand that you are representing the Crawford and 15 Ferguson families. Is that right?

16 MS MACDERMOTT: That is right, sir.

17 MR O'HARA: I have introduced you already, but I wonder 18 could future speakers for the benefit of the 19 stenographer identify themselves before they start 20 speaking?

21 Can I ask do you need a few minutes to talk to your 22 clients about what I have just outlined or are you 23 content to go straight ahead?

24 MS MACDERMOTT: I do, sir, on one or two topics.

25 MR O'HARA: Okay. Do you want to stop for a few moments?

1 MS MACDERMOTT: Yes.

2 MR O'HARA: Okay. We'll break for a few minutes.

3 (Short break)

4 MR O'HARA: Are we ready to resume? Miss MacDermott, just

5 before you start may I make one minor correction? Among

6 many other things which I introduced Carol Williams as

7 was the Chair of the Royal College of Nursing Paediatric

8 and Neonatal Intensive Care Forum. In fact, that is a

9 post from which she has moved on. Just to fill that

10 blank in her diary, she is now the Nursing President of

11 the European Society of Paediatric and Neonatal

12 Intensive Care just for the record.

13 Now ...

14 MS MACDERMOTT: Eilish MacDermott. I am appearing today

15 with Mr John Coyle for the family of Raychel Ferguson,

16 deceased. We are instructed by Desmond Doherty &

17 Company, Solicitors. For the family of Lucy Crawford,

18 deceased is Mr Ivor McAteer, instructed by McCartney &

19 Casey, Solicitors.

20 Sir, we are grateful for the time, which has been

21 usefully spent. In relation to the issue of legal

22 professional privilege I have had the opportunity of 23 speaking to Mr Stephens, who appears on behalf of the 24 Altnagelvin, and we hope that this matter will be able

25 to be resolved satisfactorily between parties. Should

1 that turn out not to be the case, we will then in due
2 course ask the Inquiry to sit on a date before the oral 3 hearings are due to begin in order to resolve any 4 outstanding issues --

5 MR O'HARA: Right.

6 MS MACDERMOTT: -- but at the moment we are hopeful that 7 that will not be required.

8 MR O'HARA: Thank you.

9 MS MACDERMOTT: In relation to the timetabling of the 10 Inquiry into the events surrounding the death of Lucy 11 Crawford, the Crawford family are, of course, as the 12 Inquiry anticipated, disappointed, but they fully accept 13 that in the circumstances there is no alternative but to 14 proceed in the way that the Inquiry has suggested.

15 I would only say in relation to that that they 16 expect that solicitor and counsel on their behalf will 17 be able to listen to the evidence and the submissions
18 that are made in relation to the Inquiry into the events
19 surrounding the death of Adam Strain and also of Raychel 20 Ferguson.

21 I think, sir, for the moment those are all the 22 matters that I wish to raise.

23 MR O'HARA: Can I just make one point which I should have 24 made earlier and I did not? There is an issue -- I do 25 not know if this will happen, but let us suppose that

1 all the evidence is heard by December of this year so 2 that the Inquiry is in a position to prepare a report on 3 everything except Lucy's death in accordance with the 4 original timescale set down by the Minister, which was 5 March of next year. I will then have to make 6 a decision, if the prosecution is ongoing, about whether 7 I do an interim report to the Minister on all of the 8 other issues or whether everything is parked to wait for 9 the outcome of the prosecution. I am not sure I want
10 a reaction from you, but I think you will understand it.
11 Since we know or expect that if there is to be 12 a prosecution, it will not start this year or there will 13 not be a trial this year, we could potentially be 14 looking at a very considerable delay in the production 15 of any sort of report. While that would add to the 16 Crawford's disappointment, I can imagine that the 17 Slavins, the Fergusons and various other people on what 18 I will describe as the other side of the fence would be 19 anxious for a report on the issues which concern them.
20 That is something we will keep under review in the 21 autumn.

22 MS MACDERMOTT: I am obliged, sir. Sorry. Might I be 23 allowed a moment? That is all. Thanks.

24 MR O'HARA: Dr McGleenan?

25 DR MCGLEENAN: Thank you, Chairman. My name is Tony

1 McGleenan. I am counsel for Adam's family,
2 instructed by McCann & McCann. I have a number of 3 points I wish to address you on.

4 Firstly, in relation to the peer review process,
5 I am instructed to welcome the introduction of that 6 safeguard against any apparent conflict of interest, 7 bias or appearance of such. However, I would 8 respectfully submit that it would be important that all 9 documentation is submitted to both peer reviewers rather 10 than it being compartmentalised by specialism, and 11 I make the point for this reason. The death of Adam was 12 a complex event clinically and it involved from our 13 analysis an overlap of anaesthetic issues, renal 14 transplant issues and other issues of surgical 15 management. It is not immediately apparent where the 16 boundaries are to be drawn there. So for that reason we 17 feel it would be important that documentation be 18 submitted where appropriate to both peer reviewers.

19 MR O'HARA: There is no problem about that, and there will 20 be at least three reviewers.

21 DR McGLEENAN: Moving on to a point we had previously raised 22 both in correspondence and at the previous oral hearing, 23 which is on the issue of renal expertise, and you have 24 touched on that in your opening address this afternoon, 25 in relation to that we note that you intend to take the

1 advice of Dr Booker as to the issues which may or may 2 not arise in relation to renal expertise. I would 3 simply ask that you refer to the detailed response we 4 submitted on the statement of issues, where we raised 5 four specific points of concern, and we went into some 6 detail, in particular on our fourth point, about renal
7 transplantation management, and we would ask 8 respectfully that you present Dr Booker with 9 our specific concerns as an aid to analysing where there 10 is an appropriate need for renal expertise.

11 MR O'HARA: I will make sure that happens. You will 12 understand that Dr Booker is the last expert retained 13 because the number of paediatric anaesthetists is very 14 small and because they know each other much more than -- 15 even better than other specialists such as nurses and 16 paediatricians and so on do, but I will make sure -- 17 I am not sure if Dr Booker has had a chance yet to see 18 all the documents. I will make sure that that document 19 is specifically drawn to his attention.

20 DR McGLEENAN: Chairman, I have a further issue which I wish 21 to raise with you and that relates to a matter which we 22 also addressed you on on 3rd February hearing. That is 23 the question of senior counsel representation for Adam's 24 family.

25 You will recall on the first occasion where we had a

1 public hearing that the position was presented that the 2 Crawford and Ferguson families were content to be 3 represented by a single senior counsel and that we were 4 expressly instructed to reserve our position on that,
5 which we did, and we have subsequently written to you
6 presenting a series of seven principled and practical 7 arguments as to why we should have separate senior 8 counsel for the presentation of Adam's case. Of course, 9 you have made a ruling on that and noted that you feel 10 that there are clear advantages to a single counsel 11 representing the families.

12 If I could augment the seven arguments I have 13 already presented to you with one or two other points 14 ...

15 MR O'HARA: Of course.

16 DR McGLEENAN: The very obvious principal question is one of 17 equality of arms, and I would invite you, Chairman, if 18 you simply glance to your right, to look at the desks 19 arrayed in front of you, the array and range of legal 20 representation for the public authorities in this 21 Inquiry, and contrast that with the relative paucity of 22 representation, particularly for Adam's family.

23 We say in principal terms that, given the fact that 24 many of the public authorities are represented by both 25 senior and junior counsel, applying a simple equality of

1 arms' argument, it stands clear that we ought to have 2 a similar platform from which to mount our case.

3 In addition, we say that while we note your view
4 that there are advantages to a single senior counsel 5 representing the families, the position that was 6 presented to you in February, which was that the 7 Ferguson and Crawford families were content with that 8 view, may not be the same position that persists today, 9 and we are also aware that there may be a possibility of 10 a fourth family or perhaps more becoming involved in 11 this Inquiry, at which point the apparent advantages of 12 a single senior counsel we say somewhat dissipate.

13 Therefore, we repeat our request for representation in 14 those terms.

15 It is also apparent that for reasons beyond your 16 control, Chairman, the chronology of this hearing may 17 well be somewhat fractured, given the potential 18 prosecution, and we also say that that stands against 19 whatever advantages there appear to be from having 20 a single senior counsel.

21 We note your observation that the Inquiry is 22 represented by a single junior counsel, but in crude 23 terms we do not see the Inquiry as a comparator to 24 ourselves and we do not see the Inquiry as in opposition 25 to ourselves, but it is apparent in this

1 quasi-adversarial system that we ought to be compared 2 quite clearly with the public authorities. So we renew 3 our request with those additional arguments and I invite 4 you to reflect on that issue.

5 MR O'HARA: I will.

6 DR McGLEENAN: Chairman, one further point. You did invite 7 a comment on the forum which had been chosen for this 8 particular hearing, and we note that it is presently 9 a rather ad hoc arrangement, which will be modified in 10 due course.

11 To assist you in reflecting on those modifications,
12 I am instructed on behalf of Adam's family to invite you 13 to consider where an appropriate place might be for the 14 families at this hearing. We say that it will be 15 important for the families to be seated in a location 16 which reflects their importance not just as a party but 17 as the most important party at these hearings. We say 18 it would be important for them to have a location which 19 allows them to have a clear view of the attitude and 20 demeanour of those who are giving evidence in relation 21 to the deaths of their loved ones. I am instructed to 22 ask you to consider positioning them appropriately in 23 this room within the obvious physical confines with 24 which you have to work.

25 MR O'HARA: Can I indicate that where the stenographer is

1 sitting today will be where the witnesses give evidence 2 from. It seems to me, subject to anything you have to 3 say, that that is a very visible position for everyone
4 in this hall. I think, as I explained to somebody 5 before the hearing started, the set-up today roughly 6 approximates to what we will find in October, but the 7 desks will be smaller. People on the outside will be 8 closer to the middle. If the witness is sitting where 9 the stenographer is, can I take it that that satisfies 10 the concern that you have just expressed?

11 DR McGLENNAN: I think the concern is more about where the 12 families are positioned, Chairman.

13 MR O'HARA: I think you will find the families want to be 14 positioned where they can see the demeanour of the 15 witness. I presume everyone can see the stenographer 16 sitting today.

17 DR McGLENNAN: I will take precise instructions on the 18 families' concerns.

19 MR O'HARA: We have circulated a plan showing how the hall 20 will be laid out for the hearings. If you have any 21 alternatives to that, we will consider them, and if 22 anyone else has any alternatives, but it seemed to us it 23 was drawn up after a lot of effort to accommodate 24 everyone's interest.

25 DR McGLENNAN: Yes, indeed.

1 MR O'HARA: Thank you very much. I turn now to the 2 Department. Mr Kelly, have you anything?
3 MR KELLY: Noel Kelly for the Department. The Department is 4 content with the procedures and the timetable as set out
5 today, but if I could possibly clarify one issue. You 6 have indicated that in the two fortnights during 7 October, that is the period from 3rd to 27th, the 8 Inquiry will be looking at firstly Adam's death and then 9 Raychel's. Does the Inquiry anticipate departmental 10 witnesses being called during that period?
11 MR O'HARA: It depends on the witness statements. You know
12 that we have asked for a large number of witness 13 statements from the Department, and whether or not they 14 are called during that period will depend on the 15 responses which we receive. It also depends on how many 16 witnesses we need to call, because, for reasons which 17 should be self-explanatory, we are trying to fit Adam's 18 inquiry into a two-week period, which is really eight 19 days, in evidential terms, and Raychel's into eight 20 days. It might be, therefore, that while we can touch 21 on some of the issues that concern the Department, it 22 might be more logical for the Department's witnesses to 23 follow immediately after that. It will not be quite as 24 broken up as I have indicated, because, for instance, if 25 on the second week of Raychel's death a witness gives

1 evidence let's say on the Wednesday and then 2 a Departmental witness gives evidence on Monday or 3 Tuesday, that will all feed into all of the evidence
4 which is considered on each of these points. So it 5 depends on the number of witnesses and the sequencing of 6 those witnesses. That will become clear as the summer 7 goes on.

8 MR KELLY: Right.

9 MR O'HARA: Can I just ask one question, because it is 10 something which the Inquiry would welcome clarification 11 on? The Chief Medical Officer I understand is partly 12 represented by the Department and partly represented for 13 what have been described as professional purposes by 14 private solicitors, Tughans. Let me ask you this to 15 illustrate it. If the Chief Medical Officer comes to 16 give evidence at this Inquiry, which of those 17 representatives will be questioning her or do you know 18 yet?

19 MR KELLY: Well, that is a problem that might be resolved if 20 a single counsel is instructed both by the Medical 21 Defence Union and by the Department. It is not 22 anticipated -- in fact, we are quite clear that there 23 will not be a conflict of interest between the 24 Department and Tughans, who are instructed by the 25 Medical Defence Union. Therefore the most likely

1 resolution of that issue will be that a single counsel
2 will be acting on behalf of both.

3 MR O'HARA: Okay. It would also help us if we could have 4 some clear definition of what the difference is between 5 her role as Chief Medical Officer, on the one hand, and 6 her professional interests, on the other, which is the 7 basis upon which she is represented by Tughans, as we 8 understand it. That need not necessarily come today, 9 but it would be helpful if that could be clarified for 10 us. At least if the Chief Medical Officer understands 11 that there is something of a difference between those 12 two, we will want to know if the Department recognises 13 the difference between those two. Okay?

14 MR KELLY: Yes.

15 MR O'HARA: Mr Lavery for the Royal?

16 MR LAVERY: Thank you, sir. My name is Michael Lavery.
17 I appear with Mr MC Lavery on behalf of the Royal Group
18 of Hospitals, instructed by Messrs Brangam Bagnall &
19 Company.

20 There is one matter that is giving us some concern.
21 We have no concern with the process which involves the 22 peer assessors -- peer reviewers, but what we are 23 concerned with is that a considerable amount of 24 documentation, if we have understood the matter 25 correctly, including preliminary reports, will have been

1 generated before there is a final report which will be 2 circulated.

3 Our concern is that this is material which obviously 4 will be seen by the Tribunal, which will obviously be 5 important in generating the genesis of the ultimate 6 report. We would suggest that as a matter of first 7 principle we ought to see it if it is relevant material, 8 if it is material that in some way leads to the 9 formation of a conclusion by these experts, which will,
10 of course, carry a considerable amount of weight at the 11 Tribunal.

12 MR O'HARA: Well, the preliminary paper from the experts and 13 peer reviewers will be distributed, but the final 14 report -- I think I touched on this in February. Some 15 enquiries have been conducted on the basis that before 16 a final report is issued which is critical of anyone 17 that that person is specifically advised of the 18 criticism and given a chance to answer it. I indicated 19 in February that I foresee major problems with that,
20 because I think the families can then say, "How come you 21 issue a draft report, you take an excerpt from it, you
22 give it to Dr X, Dr X replies and persuades the Inquiry
23 to back off on the first two criticisms but keeps, say, 24 the third and fourth criticism?" That seems to me to 25 lack the transparency which is part of the Inquiry's

1 procedure.

2 On that basis I will not circulate the final advice
3 and report of the experts before the final Inquiry 4 report is published on the basis that they will be 5 advising me on issues which I should take into account, 6 but I will adhere to the undertaking which I gave in 7 February that before anyone comes to give evidence they 8 will be advised of what issues of concern or potential 9 criticism they face, and that the report will not be 10 published without a witness having had a chance in their 11 oral evidence to respond to those concerns or 12 criticisms.

13 MR LAVERY: I think our concerns are at an earlier stage 14 with reports that may be generated before the --

15 MR O'HARA: Before the oral hearing?

16 MR LAVERY: Yes.

17 MR O'HARA: That was indicated. That preliminary paper will 18 be distributed.

19 MR LAVERY: And then -- I may not have fully understood the 20 process -- there will be a process whereby they are 21 reviewed by the peer reviewers.

22 MR O'HARA: These experts who are here with me today, they 23 will draw up their paper of preliminary concerns.

24 MR LAVERY: And that will be circulated?

25 MR O'HARA: That paper will then go to the peer reviewers to

1 see if they have anything to add to it or any different 2 take on it. There will then be a combined paper, which 3 will be circulated. So everyone will know before the 4 oral hearings start what concerns have been identified 5 by the experts. If the peer reviewers have any 6 additional points to raise, they can either be accepted 7 by my experts or alternatively they can be added. If 8 the peer reviewer adds an issue which the experts do not 9 actually agree with, if the peer reviewer adheres to 10 that, the paper will indicate that that is a 11 specific point raised by that peer reviewer.

12 MR LAVERY: But we will be seeing the preliminary reports as 13 well?

14 MR O'HARA: Yes. That combined paper from these experts and 15 from the peer reviewers will be circulated. We hope to 16 have it circulated, depending on the peer reviewers'
17 availability and timetable, in mid to late August, so it 18 will be at least five or six weeks before the oral 19 hearings start on 3rd October.

20 MR LAVERY: Thank you, sir.

21 MR O'HARA: Mr Stephens?

22 MR STEPHENS: Sir, my name is Ben Stephens. I am instructed 23 on behalf of the Altnagelvin Health & Social Services
24 Trust by the Directors of Legal Services, and I appear 25 with Mr McAlinden.

1        May I say at the outset that I am grateful for the 2        discussion that has taken place in relation to 3        discovery. We will try to resolve that matter in the 4        near future and we will facilitate any hearing in 5        relation to any problem that might arise at further 6        notice, as short notice as necessary.

7        Sir, may I also add that we do have some concerns
8        about the role of the peer reviewers? Unfortunately 9        I am still a little uncertain as to whether we see the 10       actual thought process that ends up with the final 11       outcome of the experts' report. As I understand it, 12       there is an expert report before the oral hearing --

13    MR O'HARA: Yes.

14    MR STEPHENS: -- into which there is input from both the 15       experts and the peer reviewers, but that we do not see, 16       nor do the families see, how the experts arrived at that 17       conclusion and what the differences are or may be 18       between the peer reviewers and the experts.

19       I emphasise on behalf of the Trust that it is our 20       duty to assist this Inquiry and to arrive at an 21       appropriate result for the benefit of the community. In 22       order to facilitate that, I would be somewhat concerned 23       that if we do not see the thought processes but end up 24       with the experts' report, that our role and indeed the 25       role of our people in this Inquiry will be inhibited.

1        May I say also that that is perhaps the same with 2        the next peer review stage, that is after the oral 3        hearings take place, because at that stage we do not 4        know, nor does anybody who has given evidence to this 5        Inquiry know, what input has been given. There is no
6        opportunity to clarify or to correct. I did make 7        available to the Inquiry one short authority. It is a 8        matter which it may not be appropriate to deal with at 9        this stage, but I would like to flag that up as an 10       issue.

11 MR O'HARA: Yes. It seems I have not clarified things as 12       well as I had hoped. The experts at either side of me 13       are going to give us a paper hopefully by mid-July. Let 14       us suppose it contains twenty areas of concern which 15       they identify which they specifically want us to take 16       up. We will circulate that. Those will certainly be 17       identified and that will be part of the oral evidence.
18       The proposed list of issues which we have prepared, we 19       very much hope that it probably encompasses all of that 20       already. If we are working along the right lines, it 21       certainly should. If the peer reviewers then say, "We 22       think there are five more areas of concern", my experts 23       will look at those. Let us suppose they agree with 24       three of them. We will therefore present twenty-three 25       areas of concern. If they disagree with the other two,

1 we will then say, "These two areas of concern have been 2 identified by the peer reviewers". So you will see the 3 extent to which there is agreement among the experts and 4 the peer reviewers and you will see the extent to which 5 the peer reviewers are saying, "Maybe you should push 6 things a bit further".

7 MR STEPHENS: Yes.

8 MR O'HARA: So far as your concern about the final report is 9 concerned, we will have to finalise our thinking about 10 the publication of that final report from the experts, 11 which is reviewed by the peer reviewers, but it will not 12 be circulated in advance, with the result that people 13 will not have a chance to give fresh evidence or 14 correspond with us on those issues, but I say that 15 subject to what you have just said to me, what Mr Lavery 16 said to me and subject to reviewing the authority which 17 you have been good enough to provide this afternoon.

18 MR STEPHENS: Yes. If I may leave it on that basis at 19 present. I am very grateful indeed. Apart from that, 20 sir ...

21 MR O'HARA: I should say this. This does take us back to 22 the point that I made in February, when I know you were 23 not involved in the Inquiry, about the -- in a sense 24 what I am doing is departing from what has happened for 25 a number of years, but I think it is fairer to the

1 public and to the families that the people who are 2 potentially the subject of criticism do not get 3 a private last shot at deflecting or preventing that 4 criticism before the report is published. We might have 5 to come back to that.

6 Mr Stitt?

7 MR STITT: May it please you, sir, my name is Michael Stitt.

8 I am representing the Sperrin Lakeland Health & Social 9 Services Trust. I am instructed by the Central Services
10 Agency and I appear here with Mr Good.

11 There are two short matters, sir, which I would wish 12 to bring to your attention.

13 The first relates to the question of the written 14 statements. It is clear that my Trust has specifically 15 been injunctioned from preparing statements. The formats
16 have not been sent to them. We do not know and you do 17 not know when that is going to happen. It is dependent 18 upon the inquiries which are ongoing.

19 I would like to make the point, however, at this 20 juncture that it is anticipated that, with the best will 21 in the world, it is going to take a lot of work and 22 a little bit of time to ensure that they are properly 23 presented and that they are given to you in advance of 24 our hearing. You do not know and we do not know when 25 that is going to be.

1           Can I just make the point that what we are concerned 2    about is the possibility of being sandwiched between the 3    end of the four-week period that has been discussed and 4    putting us in immediately thereafter, but perhaps 5    because of that, and bearing in mind the fact that the 6    hall will not be available from a certain date in 7    December, and for obvious reasons you, sir, will wish in 8    that hypothetical circumstance to deal with the Sperrin 9    case, the Crawford case, at that time, I just want to 10   flag up the point that we have a concern that we could 11   be tight on time as regards statements, but I cannot say 12   any more than that, but at least I have made the point, 13   and if we need to revisit it, we can do so.

14 MR O'HARA: I understand.

15 MR STITT: Thank you. The second point is much more prosaic
16   and it is simply this. We have a large number of hard 17   copy documents in ring binders. I am thinking of the 18   mechanics of storing them and perhaps having meetings 19   and so on. You did refer to the facilities which are 20   somewhat limited within this otherwise grand building.
21   I would be grateful if every effort could be made by 22   those in administrative positions to see that all 23   representatives have reasonable facilities for storing 24   overnight their documents and for retiring.

25       I noticed, for instance, that when Miss MacDermott

1 was consulting on a number of matters earlier, she was 2 basically outside the doors at the back, which is 3 perhaps a little unsatisfactory, and I am not 4 suggesting, of course, that that would be the height of 5 consultation facilities, but I am sure one thing we will 6 all agree about is we would like, if at all possible, to 7 have some space that we can retire to consider the many 8 and various issues which are undoubtedly going to crop 9 up?

10 MR O'HARA: There will not be enough room for everybody in 11 this building. I think, broadly speaking, we have maybe 12 three rooms available to us, one of which the Inquiry 13 will need. There are likely to be two others of 14 differing sizes. If you divided one, say, as the 15 families' room and one as the public bodies' room, they 16 are probably not both big enough for that purpose. We 17 will make enquiries to see what alternative facilities 18 are available nearby. It is likely to mean that 19 somebody is going to have to be leaving the building.
20 Hypothetically it might be across the road in Jury's 21 Hotel. There might be a room set aside there. That is 22 the sort of issue that we face. It is not as convenient 23 as being in this building.

24 MR STITT: That certainly would not be a problem, sir. I am 25 thinking of the security of documents and to facilitate

1 discussion. I am grateful for the response. If you
2 would just give me one moment, sir ... Thank you.

3 MR O'HARA: Is there anybody else on the public side of the 4 house who has anything to add?

5 Can I just come back to one issue that I raised 6 earlier, the option of meeting on 25th August with the 7 experts? Have the families had time to consider whether 8 that date is suitable?

9 DR McGLEENAN: On behalf of Adam's family that date is 10 suitable at present.

11 MS MACDERMOTT: If you could allow a moment, sir ...
12 I forgot to ask. (Pause.)

13 So far as the Crawford family are concerned, sir, 14 they are not able to say at the moment that that suits
15 them. The Ferguson family can attend at that time.

16 MR O'HARA: Can we do it in this way? You will understand 17 we have been working on a whole series of dates, because 18 the experts have different work commitments and 19 different holidays, and Thursday, 25th might be the only 20 day in August when they can meet. What we might do that 21 day is go ahead with as many people as we can meet that 22 day. Then we can make alternative arrangements if the 23 Crawfords cannot make it that day. The Crawfords can 24 meet at a later point, but they will have the same 25 facility available to them as the others do at an

1 earlier stage. I know that is not ideal. I certainly 2 do not want the Crawfords to think that yet again they 3 are suffering in this, but it will be available to them.
4 MS MACDERMOTT: I am also asked to enquire as to whether it 5 is the position that the experts will not be asked to 6 write a report about Lucy's case --
7 MR O'HARA: At the moment?
8 MS MACDERMOTT: -- pending all the witness statements
9 becoming available.
10 MR O'HARA: At the moment they will not be. One of the 11 reasons for that is the simple reason that we have a lot
12 of documentation about Lucy's death which has not yet 13 been distributed --
14 MS MACDERMOTT: Yes, indeed.
15 MR O'HARA: -- because it cannot be as long as the criminal 16 investigations continue.
17 If there are no other issues, thank you all very 18 much for coming. We will certainly be here on 3rd 19 October. We will be here for a training session on the 20 technology before that. That date will be notified to 21 you, but is likely to be in the week or two weeks before 22 the hearing starts. Unless there is anything else, that 23 concludes today's business.
24 (Hearing concluded at 3.05 pm)
25 --ooOoo--
