Dear Paul,

RE: ADAM STRAIN [REDACTED]

Adam had his wrists x-rayed just before Christmas and at that time I was actually interested to be sure that there was no effect of the repeated courses of Ciproxin, he has had, on his epiphysis. Although the report does suggest there is some renal osteodystrophy it does not mention any changes that could be attributed to Ciproxin.

I am not sure whether this was mentioned on the form or not but if you think it is worth looking back at the x-rays maybe you would be good enough to do so.

Yours sincerely,
