Ms. Debbie Strain

Dear Debbie

Looking at Adam's results today we thought that it would be wise to increase his dialysis in two ways. I would ideally like him to have six nights a week. I know that this is quite demanding but I think it might be better to do that for a while and see if his results improve. The other thing we would like to do is increase the volume to 600mls and also give him ten cycles instead of eight. This will mean shortening the dwell time so that he is on dialysis for the same length of time at night and Joanne will talk to you about adjusting the programme on his Pac X.

Apart from that his results are fine.

Yours sincerely,
