RE:
ponatraemia.....ag;

Here is a response from Stephen Playfor. I think we should hold off on any amendments until the NPSA decision is published.

I have done a literature review and have found some interesting papers as well as those u sent me.

I'll keep in touch

Bob

Bob

On Thursday I spoke to Gale Pearson, he is part of some paediatric advisory board to the NPSA, which met last week to consider a draft proposal of mine restricting the availability of 4%dex/0.18%saline. They have apparently endorsed the suggestion and the NPSA have decided to take it on as a priority. This is all 2nd hand reporting so far I'm afraid, I'll let you know harder facts as and when.

Best wishes (met Stephen McLaughlin last week; he's a fan of yours)

Steve

Hi S,

i have been asked to review and update the Northern Ireland "Prevention of Hyponatraemia Guidelines".

I was wondering if you had made(or are anticipating) any progress with the NPSA on this matter.

Thanx

bob

Bob,

Thanks, I have also been in touch with Steven Palyfor and have forwarded some posters.

I think a meeting will be needed but first thought that given the holiday season, initial comments may be best obtained by email. Perhaps then if I ammend the guidance in light of comments, a small group could meet and agree the exact wording etc. Happy to meet with you, and other RBHSC colleagues, next week if there is anything in particular you would like to see changed. I would like this done ASAP

I will be on leave 16th July - 10th August

Miriam

Hi M,

Good to hear from you, even if it was the dreaded hyponat business.

I would be delighted to look at this again. Dr Steve Playfor an PICU consultant in Manchester was corresponding with me a whila ago. He was hopeful that he could persuade the NPSA to put a "ban" on hypotonic fluids. I will contact him to see how he is progressing and be in touch. Is there any plan for a meeting?? Is there a deadline??

thanx

bob
