Kevin,

This seems right, but the difficulty is that it might appear that we are falling into the same trap as the Trust, by not seeming to react quickly enough to the concerns and feelings of the parents.

Subject to CMO's own views on the matter, it might be better to say that she is still considering the issues raised by the Coroner and will be contacting the parents as soon as possible. Just when and how will be a private matter.

To All

I would suggest that our reply to Trevor Birney (see below), on whether the CMO will meet with the Crawford's is a confidential matter and we will not be making any further comment.

Happy to discuss

Kevin

Kevin,

The Chief Medical Officer, Henrietta Campbell, told me last week that she was going to meet with Lucy Crawford's parents to discuss the issues they have raised publicly.

Colm Shannon told this meeting would be "private and away from the cameras."

As of this morning, April 2nd, the Crawfords say they have had no correspondence from the CMO in relation to such a meeting. They say they are "disillusioned" that given the gravity of their concerns Dr. Campbell has still not followed up on her intentions as stated to me.

Can you confirm, on the record, if the CMO still intends to meet with them?

Best wishes,
Trevor.

Kevin,

)
Just a reminder about Dr. Campbell's interview on Thursday.

We're planning for a 4 pm pre-record in UTV.

In the meantime, we're putting together a package to set it up. Henrietta will be able to watch it before doing the interview.

I hope this is ok.

Talk to you soon.
Trevor.
