Summary.

Martin Bradley was Chief Nursing Officer (CNO), in the Department of Health, Social Services and Public Safety (DHSSPS) from 2005 until his retirement in July 2011. Prior to taking up post as CNO he was Director of the Royal College of Nursing, Northern Ireland. His background is in general and mental health nursing, nurse education, public health, and the commissioning of health and social care services.

During his time in DHSSPS he led on a range of initiatives, including the development of the first Palliative Care Strategy for Northern Ireland, the introduction of a care pathway for children with Complex Healthcare Needs, the development of the Patient/Client Dignity Standards, a series of standards and initiatives to prevent and reduce the incidence of health care associated infections, the Review of Health Visiting and School Nursing, Review of Mental Health Nursing, and latterly the Review of District Nursing. In conjunction with the Chief Medical Officer he also co-chaired the Confidence in Care Group, to oversee new mechanisms to ensure clinical standards in professional practice.

Currently he is Chair of the Northern Ireland Association for Mental Health (NIAMH), Chair of the Down and Connor, Irish Bishops' Initiative on Drug and Alcohol Abuse, a Trustee of the Florence Nightingale Foundation, a Life Member of the Florence Nightingale Museum (London), a lay member of the UK Board of Healthcare Chaplains, and a member of the NI Pharmaceutical Council.

He is a past member of the UK Central Council for Nurses and Midwives, a former member of the BBC Broadcasting Council, and chaired the National Cancer Institute (Washington), All Ireland Cancer Nursing Group.

In November 2007 he was invited by the Commonwealth Secretariat to address the Commonwealth Conference in Uganda on "Health for Women and Children - Realising the Potential."

He has a particular interest in public health, targeting health and social need, community development, primary care and practice development. He is a visiting Professor of Nursing at the University of Ulster. In 2000 was made a Fellow of the Royal College of Nursing, for his services to Nurse Education and Higher Education, and in 2011 was made a Fellow of the Queen's Nursing Institute, in recognition of his contribution to and influence on the delivery of primary health care and community nursing.

In January 2013 he was awarded an OBE for his services to Nursing in the UK.
