Hi Julian

my understanding is

- that the 2003 chart is complementary with the report "The management of hyponatremia in adults" i.e it is not a paediatric document
- that the 2007 guidance on paediatric parenteral fluid therapy supersedes the 2002 guidance chart and that the relevant DHSSPS circular has asked trusts to remove the 2002 charts.

With Best Wishes,
Jarlath

Subject: Hyponatraemia wallcharts

Hi,

Currently there are 3 wallcharts for use in Northern Ireland regarding Hyponatraemia.

1. PAEDIATRIC PARENTERAL FLUID THERAPY (1 month - 16 yrs) - September 2007.
2. Any child receiving prescribed fluids is at risk if Hyponatraemia.
3. Hyponatraemia - A disorder of water balance which is potentially fatal...- 2003

I have attached all 3.

The first is the new one from September 2007 that has recently been posted up around the BHSC.

The second one is an older one that we have been asked to remove from circulation i.e. replaced by the first one.

The third one is from 2003 and applies to adults and children. I have been asked what are going to do with this one. I have received comments that it is no longer 'correct'. Is the third one incorrect - where? Where does it sit with regard to guidance number 1 (Sept 2007)?

Can anybody help?
